Is still selling groceries—the rains came and the winds blew. The flood has come and gone. I am a little disfigured from the effects of the flood but am still in the ring. Competition is said to be the life of trade, the more competition we have the cheaper we sell—I have just received a part of a car of Cabbage, Onions and Potatoes. These will be sold very cheap, nearly like giving them away. I am still hungry for Chickens and Eggs. My trade is still improving every day. Why? Because I sell good Groceries for little money, also have fresh roasted peanuts 5 cents a sack, 5 sacks for 5 cents a sack. Also have a complete line of French Harps 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30 and up to 50c.

COLENSO EVACUATED.

British Troops Leave the Town to the Boers.

REASON NOT GIVEN.

The Boers Are Reported to Be Closing upon Ladysmith—The Boers Are Hoisting the Transvaal Flag in Zululand.

London, Nov. 4.—It is officially announced here that the British have evacuated Calenso, south of Ladysmith. Where the message came from is not given, but supposed to be from Delagoa bay.

Another dispatch says the Boers are closing upon Ladysmith.

According to another dispatch received here from Ladysmith, the body of General Kock, the Boer commander who was wounded at the battle of Glencoe, captured and taken to Ladysmith, where he died, has been taken to Pretoria.

Still another dispatch from Ladysmith says the townspeople, including the women, witnessed the battle at Ladysmith.

It is also said a resumption of fighting is hourly expected.

The Boers are traversing Zululand, hoisting flags over British possessions.

A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company, from Cape Town announces that the Boers have entered Cape Colony at Norvalspuit, destroying several bridges.

The British troopship Papidan, which sailed for South Africa Nov. 1, from Liverpool, has returned in a damaged condition, having encountered a storm. She is going to Liverpool to be refitted.

Dispatches show the forces of the Orange Free State are prepared to invade Cape Colony. These forces are not overwhelming, but the Dutch in the neighborhood of Colesburg and Burghersdorp are exceptionally pro-Boer and their support is evidently expected.

The objective point of this force of Boers will probably be Naauwpoort, one of the most strategic railroad points in South Africa, and which will probably be, it is said here, the first advanced depot of the second division of the army corps.

General Buller is believed to be on his way to Ladysmith with reinforcements.

Trying to Recruit Americans.

Washington, Nov. 4.—An attempt has been made here to recruit volunteers for service under the Boer standard in South Africa, by a man named Theilkuhl in the employ of the patent office. For some time the patent office looked like a recruiting station, and Chief Draughtsman Scott was kept busy answering questions concerning a newspaper advertisement which invited able-bodied men with military experience, who desired to go to The Transvaal, to apply to Gustav Theilkuhl.

Theilkuhl is classified as a laborer in the patent office, but in the advertisement the applicants were directed to call at 717 Eighth street, N. W.

One of the watchmen said he understood Mr. Theilkuhl was organizing a regiment to go to South Africa to fight the English. The matter was brought to the attention of the chief clerk of the department, who in turn referred it to Assistant Commissioner Greely. The latter promptly ordered an investigation, and Mr. Theilkuhl will be called for an explanation.

Several Lives Lost.

New York, Nov. 4.—The fire on Mott street Friday destroyed more lives than was at first supposed. There was a gathering of the men employed in the building and it was learned that three men who were supposed to be safe can not be found. Roger di Pasca, who was reported missing, turned up all right. The revised list of missing is as follows: John R. Weir, superintendent of the Manhattan Bed company; Michael Conlan, engineer; Charles Smith, packer; Albert Bush, burrisher; Max Albin, riveter.

Child Burned to Death.

McKinney, Tex., Nov. 4.—A fatal burning occurred 5½ miles east of McKinney on the farm of Colonel Aaron Coffey, in which the little 8-year-old child was the victim. In playing around the cookstove the child's clothing was accidentally ignited and nearly burned from her body before the flames could be extinguished.

Killed by Dynamite.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Five hundred pounds of dynamite exploded in the mixing house of the Aetna Powder works at Aetna, Ind. Two unknown employees were killed.

State's Attorney Indicted.

Fort Smith, Ark., Nov. 4.—The grand jury has indicted Prosecuting Attorney Johnson for carrying a pistol, which is prohibited by the law of Arkansas.

Fatally Hurt in a Gin.

Crockett, Tex., Nov. 4.—J. D. Christopher, living 11 miles east of Crockett got entangled in a gin and was so seriously injured that he died. His arm and shoulder were terribly cut.

The Kentucky's Trial Trip.

Newport News, Va., Nov. 4.—The official trial trip of the battleship Kentucky will take place off Massachusetts coast on Nov. 23.

SENSATIONAL REPORT.

Shafter Sends in One Concerning Officers in Charge of Transports.

San Francisco, Nov. 4.—The Examiner says the most sensational report of the military board of inquiry ever sent to the war department from this city has been forwarded to Washington from the headquarters of Major General Shafter. The document consists of nearly 100 typewritten pages and contains the severest kind of criticism of the methods employed by officers in charge of the sick soldiers who returned from the Philippines on the transports Tartar and Newport on Oct. 10.

Upon Major Rafter, surgeon of the Twentieth Kansas volunteers, who came back on the Tartar, the heaviest censure is laid. Colonel Metcalfe, of the same regiment, who commanded the troopship, General Funston being the only passenger, is indirectly referred to. Many other officers were given a hard measure of criticism, but their names are being withheld until the war department sees fit to make known the details of the report.

The board of inquiry which so severely arraigned the transport service was appointed by General Shafter two weeks ago at the suggestion of Colonel Alfred C. Girard, chief surgeon in general at the hospital at Presidio. Colonel Girard's desire for an investigation was occasioned by the deplorable condition in which he found the sick men from the transports Tartar and Newport. There were about 40 of them and nearly all were suffering from dysentery. Three of the men who came on these transports died a few days after arriving. They are John Fabisak and John Logan, Fourth cavalry, and George Mills of the Twentieth Kansas.

BROOM CORN CORNER.

A Combine Secures Twenty Thousand Tons Out of Twenty-Four Thousand.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—The broomcorn crop of the country has been practically cornered. W. L. Roseboom and A. J. Klein of this city are the chief manipulators in the corner, and associated with them in the deal are G. S. Tarbox and Thomas Lyons, of Arcola, Ill., Oscar I. Merkle, of Paris, Ill., F. F. Meyer, Louisville, Ky., and Augustus Rosenberger and F. J. Ritz, of Evansville, Ind. They have incorporated the Union Broom Supply company, with headquarters in this city, to handle the corner.

For a month past they have had agents scouring Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and other states, and they have bought up all the stock in farmers' hands at prices ranging from $70 to $110 per ton. Of the 24,000 tons of broomcorn harvested in this country in September the "combine" has secured 20,000 tons, at a cost approximating $1,250,000. Broomcorn now commands a price of $140 to $160 a ton. The manipulators expect to clear $1,000,000 on the corner. The price, it is declared, will be boosted within a few days as high as the lucky possessors of the new crop see fit to put it. Broomcorn dealers of this city who have not laid in a supply expect to pay dearly for their stock.

FITZ ON THE FIGHT.

He Is Disappointed at Jeffries Not Knocking Sharkey Out.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Bob Fitzsimmons was greatly pleased at the result of the fight, declaring that his contract to fight the winner brought him once more the chance to fight Jeffries who wrested the championship from him.

"I cannot understand though," said Fitzsimmons, "why Jeffries did not knock him out. It really looks to me as though he should have done so, and I am mighty sorry he did not. I have not anything particular against Sharkey, if he did help to rob me of the decision in San Francisco, but if Jeffries had knocked him out it would have been a clean cut affair, with no doubts of any kind about it. As long as I am going to fight Jeffries for the championship, I wish just on that account that he had knocked Sharkey out. That would make my title to the championship so much the clearer when I defeat Jeffries, as you may be sure I am going to do."

To a Well-Dressed Lady!

No garment is of more importance than the corset. It cannot fit well unless designed for her particular style of figure; it cannot have artistic curves unless designed by an artist. As a matter of course the dress cannot show these features unless the corset also has them. We intend giving our customers an extra opportunity by the presence in our corset department of a professional corset fitter,

Miss Mary Darnell

From November 6th to November 11th, who will demonstrate the merits of the KABO CORSETS. She will be glad to show you the exact shape your figure requires, whether you intend to buy a corset or not, and give you any other information you may wish in regard to corsets. The KABO Corsets range in price from $1.00 up. All styles are fitted with equal care.

A National Explosion.

Spanish taxpayer—But we were told last spring that the United States was on the eve of dissolution; that the southern confederacy was about to be revived; that the people were on the point of rebellion; that Coxey was ready to march to Washington, and that the Indians and Anneke Jans heirs would soon be in insurrection—in short, we were told the American republic was about to fly to pieces.

Returned naval officer—Well, if you had been on our ships you would have been safe in saying that the whole blamed yankee nation flew to pieces, if ever a country did.—Judge.

A Lone Woman Professor.

A woman professor in a college faculty of men is a novelty provided by Stanford university. Miss Lillian J. Martin has been appointed to carry on the work in psychology of Dr. Frank Angell, who will be absent in Europe next year. Miss Martin is a Vassar graduate of the class of 1880. She was at Göttingen university for several years, working in psychology, and in collaboration with Dr. G. E. Müller, professor of philosophy at Göttingen prepared a treatise of 300 pages entitled "Analysis of Sensibility."

To Try on Wash Day.

Treat the family wash according to the following method and each piece will come out beautifully white: Cut half a cake of any good laundry soap into shavings, put into a stewpan on the stove with a quart of hot water and two large spoonfuls of borax. When the soap is dissolved and boiling rapidly pour in slowly one gill of kerosene. When the mixture forms an emulsion (which will be in three or four minutes) and boils to the top of the pan remove quickly from the fire and pour into the tub. Add immediately four large pailfuls of boiling water. Put in the clothes after rubbing a little soap into bands and most soiled parts, and press and pound them until clean—perhaps twenty minutes. Wring and pound again in clean hot water to take out the dirty suds. Rinse in blue water and hang out in the open air to dry. Kerosene is a powerful detergent, saves time and labor and does not injure the finest fabric. Used in this way—in an emulsion—its odor washes out with the soap.

The Paris Attracts Crowds.

More than 1,000 cyclists visited St. Martin on a recent Sunday, to say nothing of hundreds of carriages, to view the wrecked steamer Paris. The hotelkeepers and restaurant proprietors could not lay in supplies fast enough to meet the demand, and the fishing boats did a thriving business in taking passengers round the ill-fated vessel at 12 cents a head. One fisherman made $20 in this manner in a single day. Many of the visitors came from distant countries of England, and even from France.

NARROWLY ESCAPED.

General White Had a Close Call at Farquhar's Farm.

London, Nov. 4.—There is very little intelligence here concerning the South African war, but it is believed that the Delagoa bay route, if not already restored, speedily will be, thus giving quicker communication with the Cape. The situation is still hopeful. The accounts that continue to arrive regarding the fighting on Farquhar's farm only confirm the serious nature and narrow escape General White had.

It now appears as if it were only the arrival of the naval contingent from the Powerful which prevented a worse disaster. It seems that when it was seen that retirement was imperative, two Natal cavalrymen, volunteered to convey a dispatch across the Boer lines to Major Adye, ordering him to retire, but the risk was considered too great and flag signalling was employed instead.

According to dispatches filed on Tuesday, defensive works were being constructed on the hills around Ladysmith and it was expected there that the big naval guns would be mounted the following day. The Boers threatened to attack the town in force on Wednesday or Thursday and the women, children and other noncombatants were being sent by train to the south. Ladysmith is provisioned for two months.

Not in Absolute Want.

Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 4.—A rumor having gone abroad that Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, widow of the distinguished Confederate general, is penniless, in want and hopelessly ill and blind, Mrs. Jackson said to a representative of the Associated Press that the statements were greatly exaggerated. It is true that she is not in affluent circumstances, but she has a competency and has always been above want. Her health is somewhat improved. She is not blind, though suffering from facial neuralgia. Appeals having been made all over the south for her relief, Mrs. Jackson is anxious that the true state of the case should be known, as she is unwilling to accept any donations except those offered as testimonials of love and admiration for her husband.

Found His Money.

Temple, Tex., Nov. 4.—Alderman Wallace, who lost $300 from his sock a few weeks ago, has received $298.75 of the money. At the time he lost the roll a negro was walking close behind him, but when the loss was discovered denied having seen it, and assisted in the search that followed. The officers have been keeping a watch on the negro ever since, and when he tendered a $10-bill in payment for a railroad ticket to Lampasas he was nabbed, and a search of his baggage brought forth more of the big bills. The negro confessed to picking up the money and told where he disposed of the bills that were still missing and also confessed that the roll contained $300 instead of $500, the amount Mr. Wallace thought he lost.

Concannon Improving.

Denison, Tex., Nov. 4.—There is nothing new in the developments in regard to Monday night's express robbery in this city. There has been many rumors of clues, of arrests, of talks that the injured express messenger was supposed to have had with officers, but all of them have been chased down and found to be falsely founded. Local officers have ceased, in a great measure, to exert themselves in the case on account of the fact that the express company has its own detectives here, imported from Chicago and St. Louis. Express Messenger Concannon is considerably improved and his condition is such as to give his physicians great encouragement as to his ultimate recovery.

New Ticket Stamping.

Dallas, Nov. 4.—The Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe railway has adopted a new method for stamping tickets. They have an instrument, which in addition to stamping the ticket perforates the same with the day, month and year. With this precaution the liability of error is minimized, as there is no possibility of mistaking the perforated figures, which are identical with those on a bank check. It is expected that all tickets in a short while will bear these perforated marks.

To Disfranchise the Negro.

Atlanta, Nov. 4.—The committee on constitutional amendments of the Georgia house of representatives has recommended the passage of Representative Hardwick's bill disfranchising the negro. The bill imposes an educational qualification on the negro voter and Mr. Hardwick stated plainly that its object was to rid the state of the illiterate and purchasable negro vote. It is believed the passage of the bill by the house is assured.

A Madman's Acts.

Granbury, Tex., Nov. 3.—News has reached here of the killing of a 2-year-old child by its grandfather near Lipan. The madman then attempted to cut the throat of his 14-year-old son, who made his escape to a neighbor's house. He was seriously cut. Three daughters of the homicide ran from the house for their lives. They were shot at several times. The madman was arrested.

Fatal Freight Wreck.

Austin, Nov. 4.—A northbound freight train on the International and Great Northern road was wrecked about five miles south of here. The engine was derailed and Engineer John R. Steadman, who was caught under it, was killed, his body being terribly mangled. The fireman was badly shaken up, but received no serious injury.

The Quarantine Raised.

Austin, Nov. 4.—Governor Sayers has issued a proclamation raising the quarantine against New Orleans on account of yellow fever.

ALASKAN BOUNDARY.

Mr. Foster Outlines a Policy He Believes to Be Correct.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Ex-Secretary of State John W. Foster, a member of the joint high commission to settle differences between the United States and Canada has prepared a summary of this government's case on the Alaskan boundary. It was read here before the American Geographical society. Mr. Foster reviewed the history of the negotiations between Russia and Great Britain and showed that the British only sought to prevent the extension of the Russian claims eastward to the Rocky mountains. The British government was then prepared to accept a boundary line 100 miles from the coast of the main land. Great Britain afterwards succeeded in reducing this strip to a width of 10 marine leagues. Russia permitted a 10-year license to fish and hunt in the estuaries, but declined to make it permanent. That license was terminated at the end of the period and Mr. Foster says is itself inconsistent with any interpretation of the treaty other than the complete sovereignty of Russia all over not only the strip of mainland, but all the bays and inlets.

Mr. Foster showed that in 1839 the Hudson Bay company leased from the Russian government the very strip in question, as shown by the Russian maps, and in 1858 a parliamentary committee, examining the head of the company, brought the fact that Russian sovereignty extended 30 nautical miles inland following the indentations of the coast. In 1874 a provisional boundary was established by the United States at the crossing of the Stikine river, which follows the present American contention, and in 1876 a criminal being tried and convicted was released by Canadian courts because his offense was committed "in American territory."

Mr. Foster quoted the British Secretary Canning in his instructions to the Duke of Wellington, where he says:

"Enlightened statesmen and jurists have long held as insignificant all titles of territory that are not founded on actual occupation, and that title is in the opinion of the most esteemed writers on public law to be established by practical use."

With this as a basis, Mr. Foster made the following strong presentation of the American position regarding the boundary:

"There is no claim or pretence that the British authorities or subjects ever occupied any of the territory now in dispute, except under the lease, or ever exercised or attempted to exercise any acts of sovereignty over the strip of waters inclosed by it."

1. Soon after the treaty of 1825 the Russian government published a map claiming the strip of territory and all the interior waters of the sea inclosed by it.

2. The Russian-American company established forts and trading posts within the strip.

3. By virtue of the lease cited which was a recognized assertion of its sovereignty, Russia temporarily transferred these forts and posts to the British company.

4. At the termination of the extended lease it reentered and took possession and remained in possession until the cession of Alaska to the United States.

5. It received the allegiance of the native Indians inhabiting the strip and exercised control and supervision over them.

6. Immediately after the session in 1867 the department of the state of the United States likewise caused a map to be published setting forth the bounds of Alaska, in accordance with the treaty of 1825 and the same claim as to the strip was thereon made by Russia in its map of 1827.

7. Upon the transfer of Alaska a portion of the United States army was despatched to occupy the territory and a detachment was stationed for some time on this strip of the mainland.

8. Since the cession postoffices and post routes have been established and maintained at various points on the strip.

9. Customhouses have likewise been established and duties collected therein.

10. Government and mission schools have been asked and notably so for near 20 years at the head of Lynn canal.

11. The revenue vessels of the United States have continuously since the date of the cession patrolled the interior waters surrounded by the strip to enforce the revenue and other laws of the United States.

12. The naval and revenue vessels of the United States have for the same period exercised acts of sovereignty over the Indian tribes inhabiting the strip, and especially about the head of Lynn canal, and the latter have yielded unquestioned allegiance to the United States.

13. In the census of 1880 and 1890 all Indian tribes inhabiting the strip were included in the population of the United States and so published in the official reports.

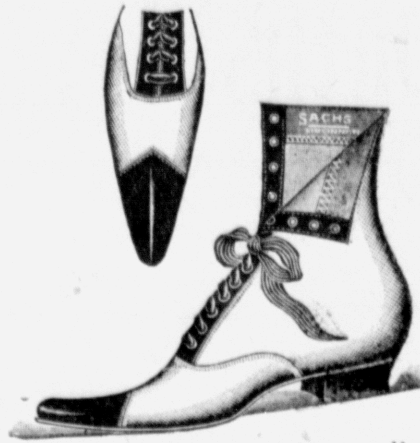

14. That territorial government of Alaska has exercised various and repeated acts of sovereignty over the strip and interior waters inclosed by it, and the writs of the United States courts have run throughout its whole extent.

15.—Under this the territorial claim of the United States and the protection of the government citizens of the United States have entered and occupied the strip, built cities and towns and established industrial enterprises thereon.

All the foregoing acts have taken place without a single protest or complaint on the part of the British or Canadian governments, except that some friction has occurred between the customs officers as to the exact demarcation of the eastern line of the strip.

England's Naval Supremacy.
The English consider their maritime supremacy as an axiom of the world's politics, according to which they cannot even think of disarmament. But it is just England's ascendancy on the sea that troubles Russia, and that probably first suggested to Czar Nicholas the idea of a general disarmament. The Russian colossus, moreover, requires ready money to equip himself for the inevitable conflict with England. And this need offers a far surer guarantee of peace than does the czar's noble-minded disarmament proposals.

Ouida's Lowly Ink Pot.
One of Ouida's peculiarities is that she cannot write at a table, but invariably writes with a pad on her knee and an ink pot on the carpet. In this way she will sit for hours at a time. It is incidentally related that on occasions she has written as much as 20,000 words at a single sitting, but this is a statement that surpasses belief, however prodigious her powers of work. Authors have been known to dictate 12,000 words at a sitting, but to write 20,000 words or twelve full columns at a stretch, is a test of physical endurance to which even so prolific and indefatigable a writer as Ouida would hardly care to submit herself.

Cyclists' Crusade for Darkness.
In Boston, where bicycle riders are not required by law to carry lights at night, fears nevertheless prevail in the cycling world that such a law will be passed. Accordingly, the carrying of lamps by those who want the light they shed is discouraged as much as possible. One method used by expert wheelmen when they encounter a man with a lamp on the fork of his front wheel is to crowd him into a properly tight place, and then ride so close as to break the lamp off without having a collision or doing other damage.

As It Looked to Him.
"It's very singular," said the observant boarder, "that plenty of girls but no men are getting married this year."
"What do you mean?" remanded the cross-eyed boarder. "A woman can't get married unless there is a man to marry her."
"Well, I don't read all the details of the weddings in the society columns," but I know that the headlines speak about June brides, while I haven't seen the first mention of a June bridegroom."

VICTOR IS JEFFRIES.

Sharkey Loses the Fight in the Last Round.

DECISION ON A FOUL.

The Fighting Was Fierce from Beginning to End, and Both Men Bloody as Bees When the Battle Ended.

New York, Nov. 4.—Referee George Siler gave James J. Jeffries the decision at the end of the twenty-fifth round over Sailor Tom Sharkey, at the Coney Island Sporting club last night. It was a most marvelous battle and the greatest crowd that ever gathered in the Coney Island club house, witnessed the desperate struggle for supremacy.

In five rounds Jeffries had the better of the fight, in the first two and last three. During the other 20 Sharkey forced the issue and like a bull terrier, was at his man with both hands unceasingly. In those 20 rounds Jeffries great weight and brawn helped him to hold off the sailor and in the 25th round he swung in a couple of vicious upper cuts that made Sharkey groggy. Tom came back again in the 24th and 25th round, but was weakened greatly by Jeffries vicious blows.

One minute before the gong sounded to end the fight Jeffries' left glove came off and practically the contest was over. The referee motioned to Jeffries' corner; an American flag was flung around the champion's shoulders and the crowd on that side and end of the arena cheered wildly. The crowd on the opposite side and end, in Sharkey's corner yelled for Sharkey and the men were led back to their dressing rooms.

The thousands of spectators were banked 40 feet high in the building, the place being packed from ringside to rafters and the aisles around the ring were lined. The tremendous crowd sweated under the glare of 400 arc lights 15 feet or less from the canvas of the squared circle. The heat was intense. The fighters were almost exhausted and the spectators shrieked themselves hoarse.

It seemed at first as though it would be a short fight, for in the second round Jeffries put the sailor to the ropes with a left jaw, and the referee began to call off the seconds as Sharkey knelt on the floor.

But from the third round on Sharkey with his vicious swings to the ribs and to the jaw, kept the crowd on its feet waiting for a knockout.

Jeffries stood the terrific punishment, and with his eyes, nose and ear split, came back just as viciously in the last three rounds and almost retrieved himself. Then came the unfortunate and unsatisfactory ending. Jeffries glove flew off, bringing the fight to an end, although the crowd urged Sharkey to rush in and end it. This he tried to do, but Jeffries fought him back and Referee Siler rushed to the rescue. It was noticeable that Jeffries used his weight to his best advantage, throwing himself all over the sailor, but the latter did his share of the hugging too, and both were warned repeatedly.

A preliminary event of 10 rounds at 128 pounds preceded the big event and Kid Goulette of Rochester, who looked a great deal like Jeffries on a small scale, was beaten by Timmy Moran of Brooklyn.

Then after half an hour's delay Tom Sharkey made his way through the crowds. He was well received, but Jeffries was cheered to the echo. Sharkey had on green trunks with an American flag for a belt, and the champion wore black. Jeffries had behind him Billy Delaney, Ernest Roeder, Tom Ryan and his brother Jack Jeffries. Sharkey was led to the southwest corner by George Dixon, Morris Kelley and Tim McGrath, O'Rourke superintending the entire proceedings. Jeffries weighed 216 pounds and Sharkey 25 pounds less.

All through the fight no one could say who would get in the knockout blow, and neither seemed able to put enough force into the blow to drop his man. In the midst of the twenty-fifth round nearly one minute before the close, the unfortunate glove affair occurred which led to Sharkey's defeat.

The majority of those at the ringside hardly thought Sharkey would get worse than a draw, for the sailor fought viciously, always after his man, with good judgment and outpointed the champion. On the other hand, Jeffries, while he had the better by long odds of the last three rounds, did very little leading in the other 22, and when he led he was either too high or too low, getting but few good punches. The decision was not announced from the ring, or if it was, few heard it, and a great mob surged around for several minutes yelling and shouting for victor and vanquished.

When the fight ended both men were badly bruised and bloody as bees.

Serious Fight.

Temple, Tex., Nov. 4.—Two young men, Will Miller and Monroe McCelva, had a fight near McCelva's home, in which a hatchet played an important part. McCelva's sister sought to separate the combatants, when she received a serious gash in her face. Her brother was cut in several places about the head, but none of the wounds are dangerous. Both men were arrested.

PHILIPPINE AFFAIRS.

President Will Ask Congress to Act on Some Future Policy.

Washington, Nov. 4.—All members agreed at the meeting of the cabinet on Friday to urge upon congress the immediate project of a joint resolution declaring it to be the intention of this government to retain the Philippines, to suppress the insurrection and to grant the broadest kind of local self government to the inhabitants of the islands, under such form of United States civil government as may be expedient. This decision was reached after the cabinet members had carefully read and discussed the unanimous report of the Philippine commission. The opinion was expressed around the cabinet table that congress could be depended upon to pass such a resolution.

While it is apparent that the publication of the report was so timed as to have an effect upon the forthcoming election, the president purposes to free himself from the charge of making it a campaign document by indorsing it to the fullest extent in his coming annual message and by asking congress to accept its conclusions and thereby strengthen the hands of the administration in dealing with the insurrection.

Jealous Husband's Crime.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—A H. Patterson, a special policeman employed by the Illinois Central road, killed his wife and himself here in a room in Bartle's hotel. They had recently separated and the wife's conduct since then had aroused Patterson's jealousy. He called on her and persuaded her to accompany him to the hotel, where they were assigned a room. There was a quarrel and the sound of a struggle, followed by three shots, was heard. When the police forced open the door of the room both were dead. Patterson had evidently planned the crime, for in the room were found letters addressed to a lodge of Elks, of which he was a member, and to the wife's parents. In them he stated that his wife had left his home for a life of shame, and that he would kill her rather than see her continue it.

Arkansas Women in Politics.

Little Rock, Nov. 4.—Although woman suffrage does not prevail in Arkansas, even to the extent of school franchise, there are certain public positions of an official character in which the ladies are on an equal footing with their brothers. During the first year of his administration Governor Jones established the precedent of appointing women as notaries public and there are now several dozen in different parts of the state holding notarial commissions. Now comes State Superintendent Doyme and opens up another official avenue by appointing ladies on county text book commissions, as there is nothing in the act creating the office to bar them from serving.

Law Protects Owls and Hawks.

Mount Vernon, Ill., Nov. 4.—Deputy Game Warden Stephenson, of this city, in the prosecution of violators of the game law, has discovered that owls, hawks (except the chicken hawk) and other carnivorous birds, which have hitherto been considered legitimate game for the sportsman's gun, are afforded the same protection in section 2 of the law that is given song and other harmless birds. No arrests have yet been made, but the law will be strictly enforced.

Hispano-American War Claims.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Prof. A. V. Quesada has filed with the state department a claim for the loss of property in Cuba during the war with Spain. He was informed by the secretary of state that all claims of that character amounting to about $30,000,000, would be referred to congress, for such action as that body might determine. Under the terms of the peace treaty, each government is to adjust the claims of its own citizens growing out of the war.

Death at a Party.

Palmyra, Mo., Nov. 4.—Henry J. Mad-dux, a prominent farmer, living west of this city, gave a party in honor of his niece, Miss Annie Morton, who had been his guest for several months, and had arranged to return to her home in Kansas. Miss Morton left the parlor on some errand and a few minutes later her uncle found her sitting in a chair in the diningroom dead. A physician was summoned who announced that her death was due to heart disease.

Enrollment Decision.

Ardmore, I. T., Nov. 4.—The court of appeals in an opinion handed down decides that a mandamus cannot be issued against the Dawes commission to compel them to enroll applicants. The courts hold that the commission is clothed with the power to hear and determine the rights of such applicants, and its finding cannot be controlled by the courts.

Failed to Rob a Bank.

St. Joseph, Mo., Nov. 4.—Robbers effected an entrance to the building occupied by the Bank of Amity, a small town on the Rock Island road, in De Kalb county, about 25 miles northeast of here, and attempted to blow open the vault. They failed, stole a team and escaped.

Three Children Burned to Death.

Rowan, Io., Nov. 4.—John Owen's three small children were burned to death while their parents were away. A gang of railway graders were only 20 rods away, but the flames were too quick for their efforts to save the children.

Accidentally Shot.

Abilene, Tex., Nov. 4.—Charlie Love was accidentally shot with a 38-caliber pistol in his room in this place. The ball took effect in his chest, but did not inflict a serious wound.
